

ELIMINATE N.E.A. MEMBERSHIP FEE

RAILROADS REFUSE TO EXACT $2 TRIBUTE FROM TEACHERS THIS YEAR

A move that is expected to result in a marked diminution next summer in $2 membership fees in the National Educational Association collected each year when convention are held, was made when the Transcontinental Passenger association adopted a round trip convention rate of $62.50 to both San Francisco and Los Angeles.

This offer means that a person wishing to take advantage of the low rate to the Pacific coast on account of the convention, which will be held in San Francisco July 8-14, can buy a ticket to Los Angeles and avoid the payment of the National Educational Association fee of $2. Tickets will be sold to the latter city either via San Francisco or returning through the latter metropolis. It has been the rule for some years that any person seeking to obtain advantage of low rates offered on account of National Educational Association conventions must obtain membership in that organization by paying $2. An understanding to this effect invariably was arranged with the railroads handling the business, and the result, it is said, has been a revenue for the association amounting according to various estimates to between $20,000 and $35,000 annually.

When the National Educational Association concluded to hold its convention this year in San Francisco, the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific and several other roads agreed to the plan of giving the advantage of low rates only to members of the association. Officials of many other western railroads have been opposed to this scheme and when the subject was brought before the Transcontinental association a stormy debate ensued. It finally was agreed that the National Educational Association compact in regard to San Francisco should be observed, but that a similar rate to Los Angeles without any National Educational Association attachment also should be offered. Tickets will be sold between June 27 and July 5.

A person who wishes to avoid that $2 needs only to keep in mind that he can buy a round trip ticket to Los Angeles for the same sum he would have to pay to get to San Francisco and back. He can go to Los Angeles via San Francisco or vice versa. In any event he will not have to join the National Educational Association. Many of the Western roads have been opposed to the $2 membership plan. Tickets sold in accordance with the special rate to San Francisco and Los Angeles will be good until September 15.

It also was decided to establish summer tourist rates to San Francisco and Los Angeles for $72.50 for the round trip. There will be no reductions from this amount on account of the conventions of the American Sunday School Association and the Eagles in San Francisco and the annual meeting of the American Medical association in Los Angeles.

AVIATION AT EL PASO

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9.—El Paso's first aviation meet opened today and is scheduled to continue for four days. Among the well known aviators taking part are C. K. Hamilton, Rene Simon, Joseph M. Seymour, Roland Garros, Rene Barrier and John J. Friable.

SUNNY MONDAY

Rosin soap hurts your clothes, and all yellow soaps contain from 20 to 40% rosin. Sunny Monday is white, will double the life of your clothes and contains not an ounce of rosin.

Which would you prefer to use on your clothes—a soap containing one-third rosin (a cheapening ingredient), or Sunny Monday, in which the cheap rosin element is replaced with expensive fats and vegetable oils which do the real cleansing and are kind to clothes?

The Multi-Millionaires OF GERMANY

The richest person in Germany is a woman, Bertha Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach. She is worth 187,000,000 marks, or $44,500,000, and her annual income is $4,046,000.

These and the figures that follow are contained in a book by R. Martin, councillor of state, just published in Berlin under a name that might be translated "Under the Electric Searchlight," and that contains appraisals taken from official records for all the greatest fortunes in Germany.

The richest man Germany has ever had was Baron William Rothschild, who died at Frankfurt in 1901. His estate paid an inheritance tax on 662,000,000 marks, or $63,308,000. This, however, was divided among his children, but it did not go out of the family, as his sons-in-law became Rothschilds.

Here are the official figures for the greatest five fortunes in Germany, translated from marks to dollars, the marks being taken as worth 23.8 cents:

Bertha Krupp von Bohlen, $44,500,000.

Prince Henckel von Donnersmarck, $42,126,000.

The Duke of Ujest, $35,938,000.

Baron von Goldschmidt-Rothschild, $25,466,000.

The Prince of Pless, $20,000,000.

And here are the greatest incomes in the Kingdom of Prussia for the year 1908:

Bertha Krupp von Bohlen, $4,046,000.

Prince Henckel von Donnersmarck, $2,126,000.

The Duke of Ujest, $1,666,000.

Count von Tiele-Winckler, $1,625,000.

Baron von Goldschmidt-Rothschild, $952,000.

Karl Henssler, $900,000.

Ernst von Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, $750,000.

The Krupp income fell in 1909 to $3,332,000 because of the depression in business, while that of Prince Henckel von Donnersmarck, being derived from capital invested in a greater variety of industries, remained approximately the same as it did in 1908.

Bertha Krupp's fortune is entirely invested in the famous steel works at Essen, which in 1903 had a total capital of $64,974,000. In 1826 the concern had four workmen in 1843 it had 99; in 1880, 13,000, and now 68,191.

Nineteen Berliners have an income of a million marks or more ($238,000) and pay an income tax of $9,520 a year. In all Prussia there are 78 persons with an income of 1,000,000 marks or more.

Fifty-seven Berliners have an income of more than 500,000 marks ($119,000) and 732 more than 100,000.

peated that the play will be produced in the fall.

Margaret Mayo and her husband, Edgar Selwyn, are to go to London to supervise the production in the English capital of the former's play, "Baby Mine."

There is a persistent report that George C. Tyler, who is the moving spirit of the Liebler Co., is to be placed in executive charge of the New Theatre, New York.

Stuart Robson, Jr., will have a prominent part in the cast of "Maggie Pepper," when Miss Rose Stahl goes on a tour with the new play from the pen of Charles Klein.

It is said that the New Theatre will soon confer another gold medal, the prospective recipient being Miss Ada Rehan. Thus far only Dr. Furness and Miss Terry have been so honored.

Mme. Fritz Scheff has begun rehearsals of "Rossita," a new opera for which Victor Herbert has written the music and Miss Katherine Stewart and Joseph Herbert the libretto. The scenes are laid in Paris.

In the spring Mr. Faversham will appear in London, where he began his career years ago, but where he has not acted since he was a lad. He will appear there in "The Faun," in which he is now playing in New York.

REQUISITION HONORED
Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 9.—Acting Governor Nathan Jaffa honored the requisition of the governor of Texas for Marvin Williams, who is wanted in the Lone Star state on the charge of burglary by indictment. Williams is said to have broken into a freight car on April 25, 1908. He was recently arrested in New Mexico and is now in jail at Clayton, Union county.

Wilson Mizner, one of the authors of "The Deep Purple," will write a play entitled "Gordon Laycock, Killer," in which Emmett Corrigan will star. Preston Gibson has been at work for a year on a new drama founded on the life of Lola Montez. It is ex-marks ($23,000) a year, while there are 1,248 whose total fortune exceeds 1,000,000 marks ($238,000.)

The richest man in Berlin is Ernst von Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, whose fortune was, in 1908, $10,234,000. He made the greater part of it by acting as banker for the Russian government.

The greatest wholesale cotton house in Germany is that of James and Edouard Simon, which does a business of more than $17,000,000 a year, while that of Wertheim does a business of about $16,000,000 every year.

It is not in Berlin, however, but in Silesia that the greatest accumulation of wealth is to be found. The great Silesian landowners live on their estates like kings. They possess vast forests and mines of coal and iron, which they exploit vigorously. Among these are the Prince Henckel von Donnersmarck, the Duke of Ujest, the Prince of Pless and Count von Tiele-Winckler, whose fortunes have already been stated. Then there are the Prince of Hohenlohe-Ingelfingen, with a fortune of about $10,000,000, Count Schaffgotsch with $5,000,000, and Count Ballestrem, with $4,500,000.

The Duke of Ratibor pays taxes on $6,902,000; the Prince of Hatzfeld-Trachenberg on $5,236,000; Prince Lichnowski and Count Oppersdorf on about $2,000,000.

The greatest landowners are: The Duke of Ujest, who has 105,002 acres; the Prince of Pless, 101,092 acres; the Duke of Ratibor, 83,475 acres; the Prince of Hohenlohe-Ingelfingen, 63,715; the Prince of Stolberg-Wernigerode, 66,292; Prince Henckel von Donnersmarck, 54,855.

In this same period of thirteen years the fortune of Karl Henschel, the great manufacturer of locomotives, increased from $5,950,000 to $10,948,000, and that of Baron von Stumm of Saarbrueck rose from $5,950,000 to $7,616,000.

Two fortunes made from mining, one in Rhine provinces, the other in Westphalia, are those of August Thyssen and Hugo Stinnes. In 1904 Thyssen paid taxes on an income of $299,860; in 1908 he was worth $10,710,000. In 1904 Stinnes's income was not more than $100,000; in 1908 he was worth $7,140,000.

This book of Councillor Martin's demonstrates that the great wealth of Germany is only about thirty years old. Fortunes began to grow rapidly about ten years after the Franco-Prussian war. In a general way these were made by landed proprietors, bankers and manufacturers who foresaw the coming growth of business, realized its possibilities and founded great companies into which by the promise of big dividends, they attracted the general public as shareholders.
